Batch 4 drawn, and one question: her study's turret, the hospital wing, the Defence rooms, the Potions dungeon

The Architect, 14 October 2026, for Godric. Ledger lines 16 to 18 and req 332 (docs/architect/changes.md), drawn from the castle model, version 21. Red: what changes. Page 2: the library as taken, the doors' passage, the stair hall's roof.

Q 1 (and 3): the study as the model holds it, floor 7 (1:250)

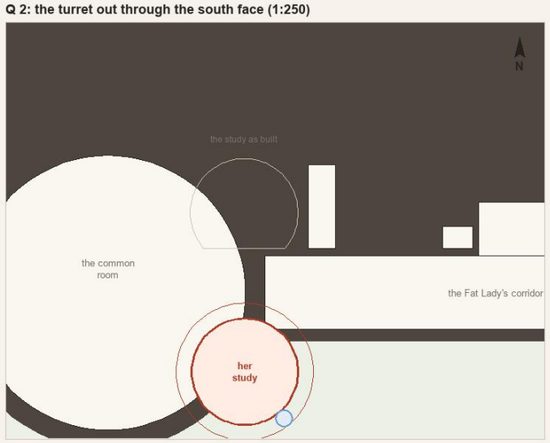

Q 1 (and 3): cut through it, looking west (1:250)

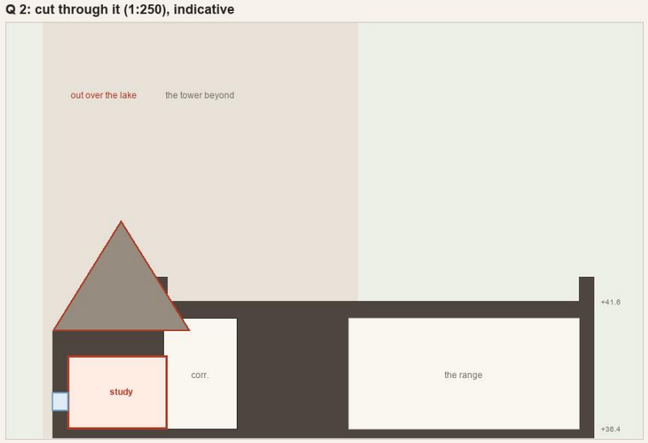

recommended

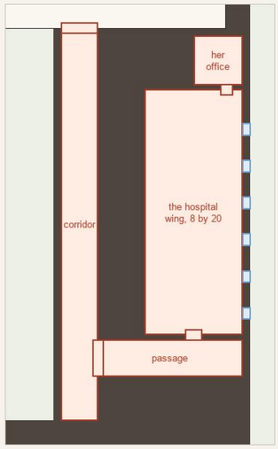

Q 2: the turret out through the south face (1:250)

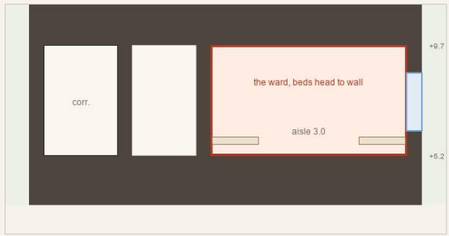

Q 2: cut through it (1:250), indicative

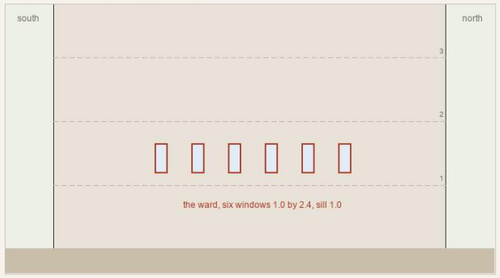

Line 16: floor 1, the east range (1:500)

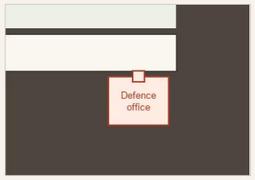

Across the ward at a window (1:250)

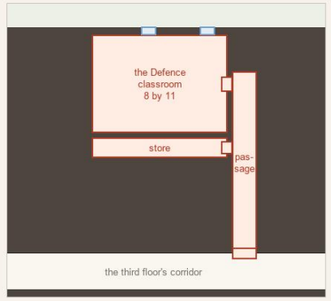

The east face to floor 3 (1:500)

Line 17: floor 2 (1:500)

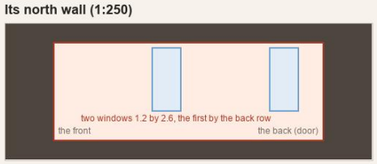

Floor 3 (1:500)

Down its aisle (1:500)

Its north wall (1:250)

Req 332's question: the Corridor's Q33 touches t1 and t2

Her study stands inside the south range at floor 7 (x 45.5 to 49.9, y 3.0 to 7.4), north of the corridor, under the range's lead flat: it has no outside face, and her window (req 253) is enchanted and blind to the wall behind it. So t1 (its one small lit window seen from outside) and t2 (the lion's head under the corbel, seen looking down from her window) cannot stand as written (docs/archive/corridor-to-2026-10-12.md, Her study, pulled to the tower).

1, recommended: keep t1 and t2 as ideas for later, not built; nothing moves. 2: move the turret out through the south face, so both can stand; the corridor's west end, the bookcase wall and the suite's pages move with it. 3: lose them. 1 and 3 draw the same.

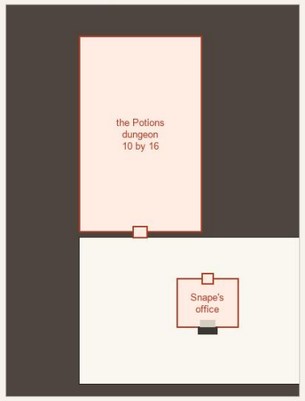

Lines 16 to 18, placed in v21, provisional, Godric to confirm 16, the hospital wing (req 333): the ward 8 by 20 on floor 1 in the east range, its door that locks off a passage, six east windows, her office beyond the far wall; the floor ours (GoF 36 and OotP 32 held).

17, the Defence rooms (req 336): the office off the second floor's corridor by the stair hall; the classroom on 3 over the hall, its door at the back off a passage, two north windows, the first by the back row, a store.

18, the Potions dungeon (req 341): 10 by 16, its door at the back, no windows, 4.0 clear; Snape's office a few steps along the passage, its cold fireplace.

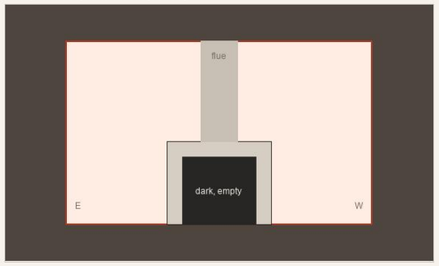

Line 18: the dungeons (1:500)

Down the dungeon at x 21 (1:250)

Snape's fireplace wall (1:100)

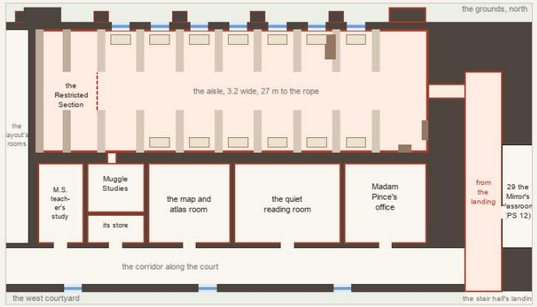

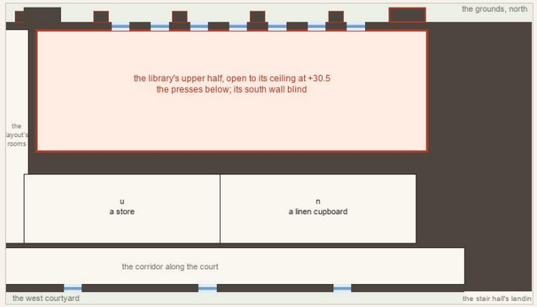

Batch 4, page 2: the library as taken, the Great Hall's doors, the stair hall's roof

The Architect, 14 October 2026, for Godric. Ledger lines 13 to 15, drawn from the castle model, version 21. Red: what changes.

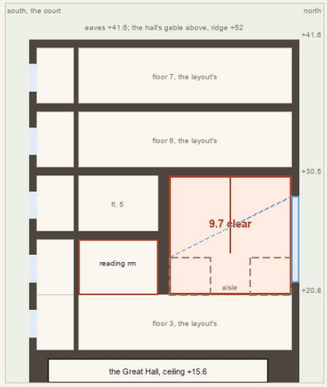

Line 13: floor 4, the library (1:500)

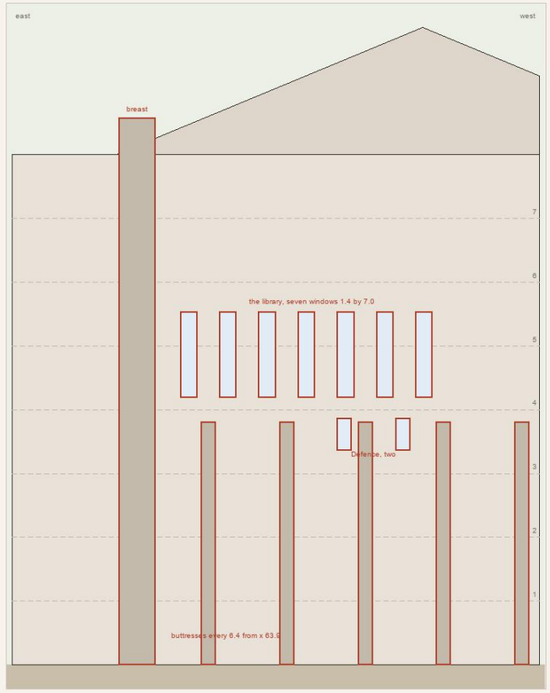

Floor 5, its upper half (1:500)

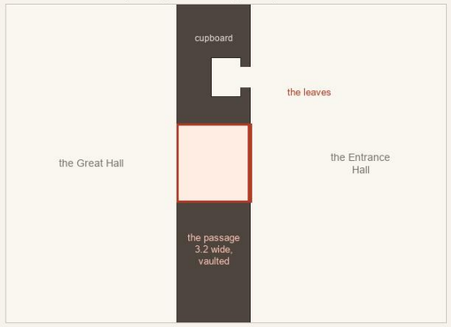

Cut at x 49.5, looking west (1:500)

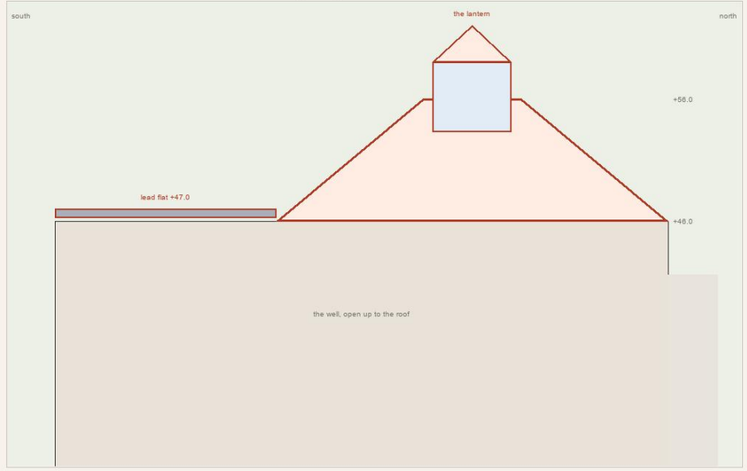

The north face from the grounds (1:500)

Line 14: the doors' passage, floor G (1:250)

Line 15: the stair hall cut at x 80, looking west (1:500)

13, the library (Q17's 1, taken 12.58 am, provisional, Godric to confirm): two storeys on floors 4 and 5 over the Great Hall, 32 by 10, 9.7 clear, a window 1.4 by 7.0 in each north bay; its door through the 3 m wall off a corridor over the Entrance Hall; its band of rooms, the Muggle Studies room behind the small door, the Muggle Studies teacher's study. The north face: the hall's buttresses re-spaced to every second press (6.4) and its breast moved to x 61.8 to 64.8, so no window meets one; the massing drawing follows.

14, the Great Hall's doors (Q16's 1, provisional): the 3 m wall stays, the doors open into a vaulted passage 3.2 wide through it, the leaves at its Entrance Hall face; the broom cupboard keeps its place in the wall.

15, the stair hall's roof: the hip over the well (eaves +46, ridge +56), open beneath, the keep's lead flat at +47 to the south, the lantern astride the ridge; the awe stand's +75 kept.
