Batch 1: the building's changes

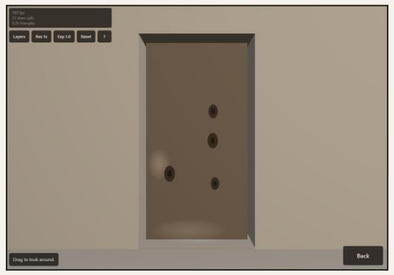

The Architect, 13 October 2026, for Godric. The ledger's lines 1 to 4 (docs/architect/changes.md); the castle model, version 15; question 14 answered 14.1; 1:150 at A3. Red: what changes.

now, 6.02 pm: the landing's far end (the Corridor's shot; unchanged since) now, 8.09 pm: the shell, B21's cupboard open on its buckets and grains (line 3)

now, 7.16 pm: a shell door, worn, a ticklish week (line 4)

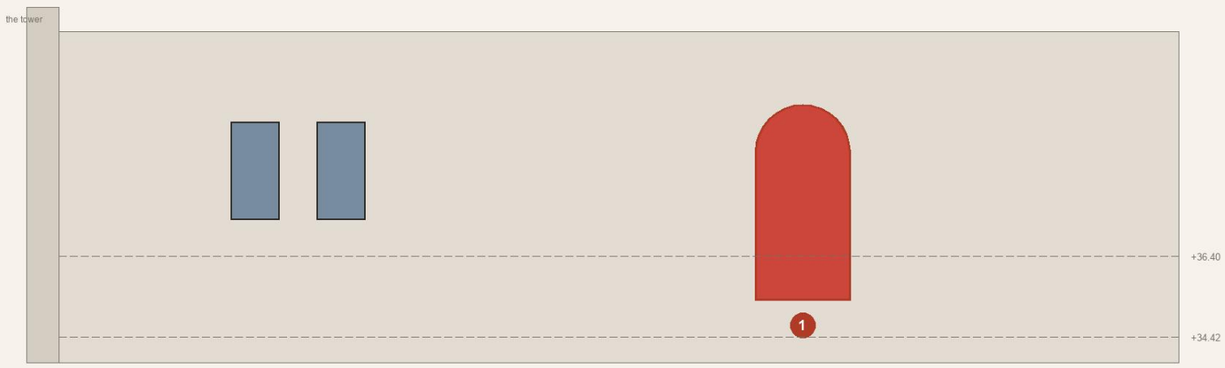

Plan at the seventh floor: her corridor, its landing and the bay

Section along her corridor, looking north at her wall

Her corridor on the south face, from the lake

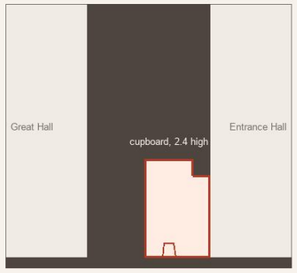

1:150 printed at A3; plans north up

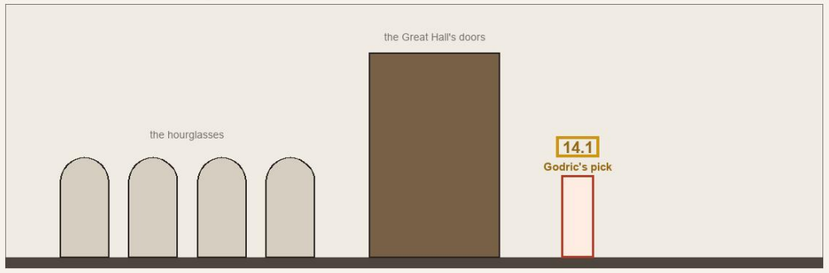

Plan of the Entrance Hall at the flags: question 14 answered 14.1, the broom cupboard (line 3)

Section at 14.1's door, north

14.1's wall from inside, looking west

The lines

1 Her landing's far end open to the bay, no end wall; the lion window (2.33 by 4.8) on the landing's south wall, centred on it, its sill 0.9 above the landing (+35.32); the outer wall runs on along the flight and the bay, so its jambs stand in whole wall. Placed, model 14.

2 The broom cupboard's door, 0.8 by 2.0, 0.25 m clear of the second portrait and of the nook; the cupboard 1.2 along her wall by 0.9 deep, its door at its nook end, 0.25 m of wall left to the nook. Placed, model 14.

3 B21's cupboard, Godric's 14.1: its door 0.8 by 2.0 on the hall's west wall north of the Great Hall's doors, unlocked; the cupboard 1.6 along the wall by 1.2 deep behind 0.4 m of wall, 1.4 m left to the Great Hall; inside, among the buckets and mops, one bucket always upturned, just right to sit on (the circle; Godric's t1, PoA 21). Placed, model 15.

4 Every shell door rubbed paler by the latch at hand height, a scuffed foot, a dished threshold; the four knots on a ticklish week. Built on the shell.

Question 14, answered 14.1 at 7.40 pm (PoA 21: "dragged him across the hall to the door of a broom cupboard", "amongst the buckets and mops"; she hears them cross the hall and go "down the front steps"; Hermione sits on an upturned bucket)

14.1 the west wall, north of the Great Hall's doors. In the 3 m of wall between the two halls: no room loses ground and the front stays whole; the mops are needed after every meal next door. Across the hall from the front doors' sunlight. 13.4 m to the front doors; 1.50 m to the nearest opening (great-hall-doors).
